

The senior LCVI Spartans outgunned the Redmen 3-1 in Haliburton last week, spoiling the Redmen's shot at locking up first place in the league. It's now a four-team race to the play-offs with just one game left to be played in the regular season. With a record of 2-2-1, the Redmen must defeat Fenelon Falls this Tuesday in order to have a chance of making the play-offs. For game details, see page 12.

International group introduced to Project WILD

A WILD time at Frost Centre

Educators from around the world had a "WILD Experience" at the Frost Centre near Dorset for three days last week.

The event was a conference which introduced Project WILD to international delegates. It showcased this environmental education program, Ontario's resource management strategies, and the Frost Centre.

Simply put, Project WILD is a program containing hundreds of activities that lead students to discover nature's interrelationships and values. Its popularity stems from its ease of use and its effectiveness in conveying the message of the importance of wildlife and wildlife conservation.

The program is being used by thousands of teachers in schools throughout Canada and the U.S. It is now being adapted for use in Czechoslovakia, Sweden and India.

Last week's conference at the Frost Centre gave delegates from Japan, Britain, Denmark, Spain, New Zealand and Australia a chance to learn more about this highly-successful educational tool.

In addition to the international delegates, the conference had participants from all across Canada. In total, there were 70 educators involved.

This was not the first time the Frost Centre has welcomed international audiences.

WILD Experience was a partner event with the much larger ECO-ED, a world congress for education and communication on

Initiatives face mixed response at county

Initiatives to build a new county office and assume responsibility for local ambulance service will not have an easy ride when they come before county council this Wednesday.

Lutterworth Townships proposals to county council have been either hailed, condemned or ignored by municipal councils throughout the county. But when they come to the county this week, Lutterworth's representatives promise to push for their passage.

The most recent municipal council to address the resolutions was Stanhope Township. It rejected both, based on the argument that municipal councils should not be interfering in county business.

The first resolution urges the county to get started on plans for a new county administration building. Stanhope Councillor Eleanor Harrison said there is a need for a new building to house all the county services, but there

Football history

Both Haliburton football teams are on the brink of making history in the Kawartha West division.

The junior and senior Redmen boast undefeated records - in fact, the seniors haven't even given up a touch-down this season.

With just one game left to be played, the teams are poised to win the division championship with perfect records. This would be the first time ever that both teams will have gone through the season undefeated.

This week's games are at home against Fenelon Falls on Friday. The first game starts at 1:30 p.m.

Vacant cottages targeted by burglars

The annual migration of cottage owners has made way for a flood of break-ins, thefts and vandalism throughout Haliburton County.

Over a recent 10-day period the Minden OPP detachment responded to more than 20 break-ins at cottages in the area, says Sergeant Steve Adam. In most cases, access was gained by breaking a window or banging down a door. A wide variety of items have been taken, including stereo equipment, boats and motors.

Preventing cottage break-ins is extremely difficult. However, there are a few steps that cottage owners can take to reduce the chances of their property being targeted.

Make sure the cottage is well secured with solid locks. Sticks should be placed in the path of sliding windows and doors in order to make them more burglar proof.

A securely locked building is no guarantee that vandals or thieves will not strike. However, it can serve as a deterrent.

Of all the property stolen, only about 10 per cent is ever recovered, says Adam. Part of the problem is the difficulty that police face in identifying the stolen property.

Keeping a record of serial numbers on items in a cottage or home would improve the recovery rate, says Adam. He also notes that the list should be kept somewhere other than the cottage or home.

The first concert of the season in the Haliburton County Children's Concert Series will feature Rick Scott. His many recordings and television appearances have made him familiar to thousands. His children's concerts have been hailed and applauded across Canada and abroad. This Canadian singer, songwriter, musician, actor, comedian has made a lasting impression on audiences of all ages. He will perform this Sunday at 2 p.m. at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

Councillors to push for passage of resolutions are not enough funds to make it feasible.

The other resolution requested that the county look into taking over the ambulance services currently provided by Minden. Stanhope council feels this service should be taken over by the Ministry of Health.

Reeve Fred Gardner said a recent report sent to the province regarding ambulance services recommends the government take over all of the province's ambulance service and administrative costs and that private contractors should not be used.

Lutterworth has sent the two resolutions to all of Haliburton's townships asking for their support. Two weeks ago, Minden council supported both ideas at its council meeting. Glamorgan Township has supported the call for a new county building and Snowdon has lent support to the ambulance take-over.

Lutterworth Council's representatives on County Council have promised to press for passage of these two resolutions at Wednesday's meeting. Reeve Cam Ecclestone and Deputy Reeve Jim McMahon commented on the support from other townships during a Lutterworth Council meeting last Thursday.

the environment and development which began last Saturday in Toronto. ECO-ED is sponsored by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization and the International Chamber of Commerce. It is the first major international gathering to focus on the educational aspects of the action plans arising from the Earth Summit in Brazil.

WILD Experience began Wednesday evening with a welcoming reception at the Frost Centre. And then on Thursday the group was treated to a day of interaction with nature they will not soon forget.

Thursday opened with an early-morning visit to Algonquin Park, where they unsuccessfully howled for wolves. They did, however, cross paths with a huge bull moose.

Later in the day, Wildlife Biologist Mark Stabb took them into the woods at the Frost Centre where they had the unique opportunity to see a flying squirrel peak out from a hole in a dead standing tree.

The Frost Centre's Dave Hamlin helped them discover ecosystems beneath the forest floor by lifting fallen trees until they found a tiny salamander.

Hamlin also provided them with a close-up experience with beavers by splashing a bit of scent in a beaver pond and watching as the beavers rushed in to ward off the perceived intruder.

The day wound up with Ed Poropat's presentation on bats, in which he uses live bats to help dispel the many myths surrounding these amazing animals.

Although the primary reason for this conference was to introduce international delegates to Project WILD, the workshop took on different dimensions during the organizational stages, said Barrie Martin. Added activities included the annual meeting of Project WILD coordinators from across Canada as well as a steering committee meeting for coordinators from the U.S.

"We had a rich mixture of people," said Martin. It was an extremely busy and tiring conference, but the participants received excellent value for their money."

We admire kids with physical and other disabilities who face their challenges and say "YES I CAN!" And we want to honour each and every one of them with a Certificate of Achievement.

They may be working hard at school or jobs, or participating in sports, arts, scouting, or other activities. Or they might be mastering everyday tasks that are difficult for them, like dressing themselves or brushing their teeth.

Tell us about a young person you want to honour and encourage, and we'll send you a certificate of achievement. All that's required is that the person be from four to 21 years old, have a disability and a "Yes I Can!" attitude.

Doing the wild thing

There was plenty of smoke, bent metal and bone-rattling crunches over the Thanksgiving weekend when the Minden Kinsmen held their annual Demolition Derby.

The top three finishers in the Full Size competition were Rick Clarke, Paul Billings and Ralph O'Connell. In the Sub-Compact category the top three finishers were Bill Algers, Johnny Black and Billy Sanders. The best-dressed car was won by Steve McClennan.

Growing support for bid to end ice, water rescues

Stanhope Township Council's efforts to keep local fire departments out of water and ice rescues is receiving support from neighbouring councils in the county.

The townships of Dysart et al, Minden, Sherborne et al and Snowdon have all supported Stanhope's resolution while Cardiff, Bicroft and Monmouth have not responded. Other Haliburton townships do not have fire departments and would not be affected.

However, Stanhope's fire department will still respond to all emergency calls in accordance with an agreement with the Ministry of Health. In the tiered response system, Stanhope is at the 'A' level which requires the fire department to respond to all emergency calls. The fire marshal's office has asked all townships with fire departments to notify the office of their response level. Stanhope's fire committee has not met to discuss the issue and may not have to because of the agreement with the health ministry.

Former Stanhope Reeve Harry Davis sent a letter to council stating that council should not get involved in water and ice rescue programs and that the province should be responsible.

"We can never be everything to everybody," stated Davis in his letter.

Davis said the Haliburton Snowmobile Association should be involved in an education program to alert snowmobilers to the dangers of snowmobiling and that it should put up warning signs along its trails.

No parking

Cars blocking Buttermilk Falls fire route will have to park elsewhere

Stanhope council is considering establishing a new fire route to Buttermilk Falls.

Designating the road as a fire route would mean there can be no parking at any time along the road.

By-law officer James Moore told council that tourists in the summer and ice fisherman in the winter are leaving their cars parked along the same route which Stanhope's fire department uses to collect water. The cars block the route to Buttermilk Falls, which is the major pick-up point for water.

Other pick-up points in the township are at 12 Mile Lake and at the culvert just east of Hudson Road. Moore said neither of these areas had problems with access.

Reeve Fred Gardner asked Moore whether the township owns the road to Buttermilk Falls and is, therefore, able to impose "No Parking" signs along the route. Moore said he thought the township owned the road, but would check to see whether permission from the Ministry of Transportation is needed.

If the by-law is passed, drivers would have to park their cars in the nearby ministry lot in the winter or along the side of the highway.

Even if the ministry has jurisdiction over the road, Councillor Eleanor Harrison says council should make a recommendation to the province that the road be designated as a fire route.

Students from grade one classes at the Victoria Street School in Haliburton visited their counterparts at the Archie Stouffer Public School Annex on Friday October 16. The object of the visit was to get the children acquainted with each other and the different community. The Archie Stouffer students plan to return the visit later in the year.

Administrator offended by comments

Saying he is "deeply offended" by recent comments made by a Minden resident, the Administrator of St. Joseph's hospital is refusing to dignify the statements with a response.

Sonya Holliday-Rhodes recently told Minden Council that Frank Lussing is the key person behind the move to close the Minden Hospital. "Firstly, make no mistake that the person endeavouring to close our hospital and/or relocate the emergency department only to the grounds of Hyland Crest is Mr. Frank Lussing..." she said at an October 8 council meeting.

Contacted last week Lussing said he is offended by Holliday-Rhodes' statement. He said he is involved in the process of looking at options for the future of the hospital. However, any decisions to be made will come from the local Planning and Development Committee.

Reading from a seven-page presentation, Holliday-Rhodes listed several of her concerns over plans for the future of the hospital. Chiefly, she expressed concern over an option to relocate the hospital to the grounds of Hyland Crest, which she says will ultimately the loss of the hospital.

Quoting a letter from Lussing, she said he referred to a "modified role" for the Minden Hospital. "When I went to school modified meant to change and tone down," said Holliday-Rhodes. "In other words, the loss of our inpatient beds and effectively, therefore, the loss of our hospital is our modification proposed by (Lussing). A few emergency trolleys behind curtains and some basic emergency equipment does not constitute a hospital."

According to Lussing, "modified" means something different from what is now present. He admits, however, that relocation is inevitable. He says it will be more cost effective to build an addition to Hyland Crest than it would be to build a new hospital.

Lussing said people have to be concerned about tax dollars and strive to get the best value for their money.

The question of what will happen in the future with the Minden Hospital is a matter that is now being addressed in a study through the Planning and Development Committee. He said the study will look at a number of specific suggestions and come out with a recommendation. There are no preconceived notions, he said. Holliday-Rhodes was also critical of the fund-raising efforts that are now underway in the area. "The public desperately needs educating, especially in the area of donations," she said. "Individuals who may have misunderstood the gravity of the move of the emergency department to Hyland Crest are applying for charity numbers in order to accept donations."

She says people have to be told to specify that their donations be allocated to either long-term care beds or to a facility that has at least seven adult care beds and two cribs.

They should also be told to donate to a recognised service club and not to individuals, she says.

Woodwork art

Ron Robinson uses the natural grains and colours of wood to create exceptional works of art.

by Russ Duhaime

When Ron Robinson comes to Home Hardware, the guys in the lumberyard just leave him alone to sift through the piles of wood.

It's not that they don't want to serve him. It's just that Robinson is a very particular about the wood he buys. He spends hours sorting through the piles looking for unique grains and colour patterns that will give an added dimension to his craft. He carefully examines each piece looking for characteristics in the wood which will help him create a special effect in his wood shop.

Robinson is an artist who uses the natural colours and grains of wood to create an image. "I mix and match to get different colours," he says. In most cases he doesn't use paint, so he tries to make the wood do the job for him. He knows exactly what he's looking for in a piece of wood and he patiently searches until he finds it.

"The guys at Home Hardware are pretty good," says Robinson. They know it's impossible to pick out a piece for him, so they let him look. "You have an idea in your head of what you want, and they say go find it for yourself."

Robinson's wife, Dorothy, knows it takes time to find the perfect piece.

She's spent so much time in the hardware store waiting for her husband that she knows the store almost as well as the employees.

However, the time and effort that goes into selecting the wood is reflected in the end product. That piece of wood that took so long to find may now be a dramatic desert skyscape or form part of the feather pattern in a

Ron Robinson's living room resembles Santa's workshop with all the art and crafts he's created over the past year. So far none of his work is for sale. Everything he has made in his shop is for friends and relatives.

Robinson began this hobby about a year ago, working with a home-made scroll saw. Eventually, he invested in a new saw that allows him to make the fine cuts necessary to create the work he's now producing.

"I thought if I'm going to get into finer work I need a good saw," he says.

Initially, he was doing "simple" scroll saw work, fashioning miniature sleighs, rocking horses and cut-outs until he came across a unique style of relief work in a woodworking magazine. The picture showed a lazy cat lounging on a tree limb.

"I saw that picture of the cat and I decided I was going to do it," says

Robinson. "And I did it"

Using the natural colours of cedar, birch and pine, he cut the dozens of tiny pieces on his new saw. He painstakingly sanded each of the pieces to just the right size and shape then fitted them all together like a jig-saw puzzle. All told, it took about a month to finish, but the results are spectacular. By raising certain pieces he was able to add depth to the image. Looking at the cat, you'd almost expect the playful paw to reach out and swat a passing fly.

The success of that first project was just the beginning. As soon as it was finished, he started on another cat, and then a deer and an owl. He's created woodpeckers and hummingbirds. And each project is a little more challenging than the one before.

The relief work is just one of the many styles that Robinson uses. He also puts his talent to work making items such as miniature tractors, airplanes and sleighs. His living room looks like Santa's workshop - he even has 12 wooden reindeer waiting to be placed on his front lawn in time for Christmas.

"I saw that picture of the cat and I decided I was going to do it," says Robinson. "And I did it"

Darts and Laurels

There's so much happening in the county this week that we want to briefly comment on a few of the good and not-so-good affairs.

Laurels to the Haliburton Highlands Guild of Fine Arts for staging last Friday's jazz concert. It was a real treat to be enjoy this calibre of music without first having to travel to Toronto. More than 100 people turned out to soak in this first-class jazz experience. We hope the band accepts the invitation to return again in the future.

Darts to the weatherman for sending us snow so early in the season.

Laurels to MPP Dennis Drainville for having the backbone to buck the wisdom of his own party by opposing casino gambling in Ontario. Whether or not we agree with his stand, we admire his courage of conviction. It's nice to see we've elected a person who is not afraid to think for himself.

Darts to Dennis Drainville for placing priority for his fight against casino gambling over discussions on the referendum. Instead of providing us with his expert insight into this issue during the recent debate in Haliburton, he chose to attend a television engagement to argue against gambling.

Laurels to the Redmen football teams. If they win again this week, both teams will complete the season undefeated, which automatically advances them to represent the division in the next level of play.

And finally, Darts to Stanhope Township for refusing to voice an opinion on two Lutterworth Township proposals for a county building and an ambulance service. Expressing an opinion on matters that affect the whole county is not interference. It's something that should be encouraged rather than avoided.

Commercials are killing the radio dream

"Oh, the radio was new, Wilmer. It was so beautiful. Back then...radio spanned the continent and radios were built to pull in signals from far away...These little dinky plastic radios you buy today won't get a signal from thirty miles away and why should they? The shows sound the same everywhere you go. The radio is filled with twenty-four hours of orange peels, cigarette butts and coffee grounds, and it sells the beer, Wilmer, but gosh, what a comedown...Radio used to be a dream and now it's a juke-box..."

from WLT, a novel by Garrison Keillor?

You listen to the radio? Most of us do, at some time or another during the day. For some it's a travelling companion, an electronic buddy to sit out in traffic jams with. Others listen in the kitchen or the den. I've got a son who's

by Arthur Black

congenitally incapable of taking a shower without his waterproof walkman sitting in the soap dish.

I listen to a lot of radio too — the CBC, mostly. (No big surprise, since I work for the CBC.) But it's not just a case of employee loyalty. I listen to the CBC because, frankly, I can't stand most private radio.

It's the commercials. They're like a swarm of aural black flies clustering around my head. They're loud, they're intrusive and nine times out of ten they're trying to sell me crap I don't want.

I could even stand that if there was the slightest suggestion of class or artistry in the commercial come-ons, but there almost never is.

The radio hucksters yell and yammer and bleat and bray. And they treat the listener like a hard-of-hearing moron.

CBC Radio is far from perfect. We air some shows with pleasure quotients that rate well behind root canal surgery.

But at least there are no commercials.

Which just may be the radio wave of the future. There's a new firm in Edmonton called DMX/Canada that's fixing to revolutionize the crystal set as we know it. DMX/Canada

Time to return to the basics says reader

Editor:

Somewhere in all this fracas about whether Canadians should vote yes or no, I keep failing to hear from either side that we already have a constitution (repatriated from Britain in 1982). As a read this 1982 document through, I have to keep asking myself if either the official yes or no proponents have taken the time to read it.

Just a few quotes:

Under Equality Rights; "15(1) Every individual is equal before and under the law and has the right to equal protection and benefits under the law without discrimination, and in particular, without discrimination based on race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, sex, age, or mental or physical disability."

Under Enforcement; "28. Notwithstanding anything in this charter, the rights and freedoms referred to in it are guaranteed equally to male and female persons."

In addition there are entire section in it devoted to the Official Languages of Canada and to the Minority Language Educational Rights.

The Aboriginal peoples are even in there, albeit relegated to one small section

"35(1) the existing aboriginal treaty rights of the aboriginal peoples of Canada are hereby recognized and affirmed."

Well, it ain't much but it is a start.

And guess what, there is even an amending formula that allows government to meet and change whatever deficiencies may be recognized since 1982 and beyond.

How come this document has not been circulated by either side? This constitution was rejected by only one premier in 1982, a separatist, Rene Levesque. He took his vision to the people of Quebec and not only did they vote no to his ideas, they turfed him out of office and voted in a federalist Robert Bourassa. Am I being simplistic or do I hear by implication the people of Quebec saying, not once but twice, we want to be part of Canada? Why then, would Mr. Bourassa not have come, pen in hand, to sign the existing agreement? Perhaps like most politicians these days, it is a case of listening too long to lobby and special interest groups, rather than to the will of the people.

I would like to trust that should the country vote no, as I personally hope it will, there will be no more constitutional rounds in the future as we saw at Meech Lake and Charlottetown (am I the only cynic who sees classic staging the the Charlottetown location?) The 1982 constitution is the law of the land currently and was confirmed so by our Supreme Court of nine judges, three of whom, by law, are from Quebec. It has, as said before, built into it the means to amend itself. It may not address the native peoples' concerns as well as it should. Then let's amend it and finally assuage our national guilt. Please, all of you committed to either side... no more of this. Let's get back to dealing with other things. Governments (any of them) are great at setting up committees at great national expense. Let's set up one for the Aboriginal issues and try to resolve some of the concerns that are alluded to but not addressed except peripherally in the Charlottetown Accord in that area.

Let us also send out a message to foreign investors that we are done with this grandiose nonsense, and that we have a united country. (A few quotes from Messrs. Parizeau and Bouchard recently have stated unequivocally that they want their people to vote no as they can get a better deal next time around. "Next Time Around!" I ask you, do statements like this coming from separatists mean they are seriously considering secession? They are just maneuvering for more blackmail, it seems to me.) Let's be done with this incestuous wrangling once and for all. We have a constitution. Either sign it or don't, National Assembly. Put these issues aside, Federal and Provincial governments, and start zeroing in on other things. It takes no psychic to see if you don't, you won't be in office long.

P.S. Mr. Mulroney, et al., some advice from this taxpayer; why don't you just (down the road please) using existing mechanisms, get rid of the Senate entirely. It is an anachronism, and a waste of time and taxpayers' money. Let us have instead, with no special concessions to any province, representation by population in the House of Commons.

Patricia M. Gibson

Mulroney's crying wolf

Editor:

During the recent weeks, I have heard statements which remind me of an old fairy tale told to every child in North America. These statements are those of the Prime Minister and his Cabinet Ministers along side the leaders of the opposition parties.

Four years ago, when Mr. Turner and Mr. Broadbent informed the electorate that the Free Trade proposal with the United States would have a negative effect, the Prime Minister said both gentlemen were trying to scare-monger the public.

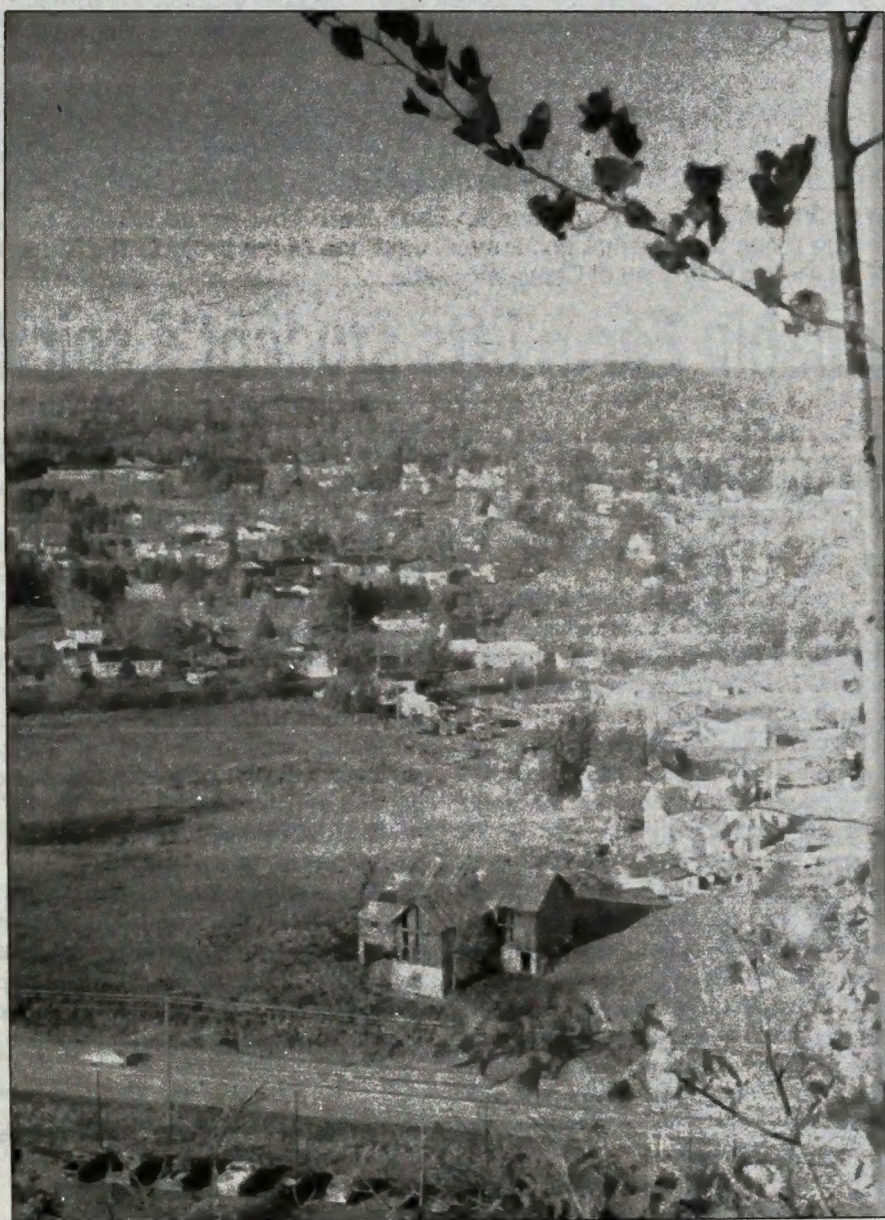

When the opposition parties repeated their advice with regard to North American free trade and the GST, the Conservatives again rose trying to dispel the shouting of "wolf".

Today, it is Brian Mulroney and his pack shouting "wolf" in regard to their yet incomplete Charlottetown Constitutional package.

Mulroney is emulating the story of "The Little Boy Who Cried Wolf". We find it extremely difficult to believe his words at this late a date. Why were all past "wolf" announcements untrue, yet this is the real thing? Canada will not self-destruct, regardless of a "Yes" or "No" vote. Is this not a negative attitude?

Overview

New station could bring back the promise is offering a service that subscribers can have piped right into their cable system. Among other things, the service delivers 35 all-music channels.

That's all music. No chatter. No stock reports. No commercials.

Those channels include: a French language music channel, a classics channel, a Contemporary channel featuring Canadian popular music...and something called the Relax channel.

When you tune in to Relax, you get environmental sounds — ocean surf, ululating loons, logs crackling in the fireplace — that sort of thing.

There is also a channel devoted to symphonic music, still another to chamber music, and one for opera.

Sounding a little too long-haired for your taste? Don't sweat it. DMX/Canada also offers channel selections that play hard rock, soft rock, R & B, folk, blues, and jazz. There's even a channel for Big Band freaks.

The bottom line is, for about $9.95 a month, subscribers will be able to listen to uninterrupted hours of whatever kind of music he or she feels like — literally at the push of a button. Not only that, but the hand-held remote convertor that comes with the service has another button. Press it and you get a readout telling you the artist, the song title, the composer and the record label of whatever piece of music you happen to be listening to.

I don't know whether the service will fly or not. Times are tough, and folks might resist the urge to fork out an extra ten dollars a month just for the privilege of hearing their favourite music unsullied by jingles and pitchmen and traffic reporters.

They might resist the urge. But if I held a lot of shares in a local private radio station, I think I'd be dialing my stockbroker's number and murmuring "Sell!"

Blast off

Above and right: Students at Sunship Earth learn how nature creates soil by pounding a bag full of twigs and leaves. Just one of the projects the students work on during their stay at Camp Wanakita.

Sunship Earth lifts student's spirits

by Oliver Greer

Once again this year the Sunship Earth has blasted off from its base at Camp Wanakita with a cargo of inquisitive students from all over Ontario.

Contrary to how it may sound, Sunship Earth is not a new intergalactic exchange program. It is a program that teaches students about science and the environment and how to preserve it.

The name Sunship Earth represents the idea that the earth is a vessel carrying all living things, known as passengers at the camp, on their journey around the sun.

The program is run by staff counsellors at Camp Wanakita but relies heavily on student counsellors from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. The counsellors from HHSS are volunteers but do receive marks towards one of their credits (usually biology but some other courses such as drama are also included).

The children who take part in the program are mostly grade six students from a variety of schools across the province.

The campers arrive on a Tuesday around noon and stay at camp until after lunch on Friday. The program runs for six weeks.

During their stay they live in a cabin with one or two of the counsellors from HHSS, depending on the size of the group. Each of the counsellors has an environmental name such as Big Dipper, Rhino or Polaris. This is how they are known to the campers. Counsellors' real names are kept secret.

While at camp the children learn about the environment and its preservation by interacting with it on three trails.

Each trail has many different activities for the campers to take part in.

For example on one of the trails, called the Forgotten Forest, the campers first take part in a race. The campers pour water, representing the sun's energy, into cut-off two-litre pop bottles. After the water drains into a pail placed beneath the bottle it is taken and poured into the next bottle until the chain is completed. Each bottle represents a separate link of the food chain — plants, herbivores, carnivores. This activity shows the campers how the energy from the sun is transferred from one link of the food chain to the next.

Next the campers actually climb inside a giant model of a leaf to see how, through photosynthesis, a plant converts sunlight into usable energy for the plant. While inside, the campers also learn how the plant produces oxygen.

On their next stop the campers journey through time to see what the future may hold if the environment is not better protected. What they see is a smokey, colourless world where even breathing fresh air is a privilege. This stop graphically expressed the importance of protecting the environment.

Mother Nature's kitchen was the next stop on the camper's journey. While in the kitchen the campers learn how soil is produced over thousands of years by the decomposition of leaves and other materials on the forest floor. They also learn the different stages these materials pass through on their way to becoming soil.

Finally the campers happen upon a plane crash. The plane was carrying a variety of forest animals which the pilot was luckily able to load onto a platform and parachute to safety. The campers then have the job of finding the animals a suitable home in the surrounding forest. They do this by reading a card attached to each crate with information about the animals' habits and needs. The crates are then opened to see which animal is inside and the campers can see if the home they found using the clues actually suits the animal.

Now it's time for the campers to have lunch in the dining hall. While dining the campers are entertained by characters such as Captain Food Waste and the Recycling Fairy.

After lunch the campers will embark on a journey through one of the camps two other trails (Blue Hawk Hollow and Sunset Boulevard) where a variety of other fun and educational adventures await them.

In the evening after the afternoon trail, the campers can play a number of games such as soccer, basketball or frisbee golf.

Each night after dark a campfire is held where stories and songs are shared. While at camp the campers also learn crafts such as making bracelets out of leather strips or gimp.

At the end of the week the beading ceremony is held at which the campers are presented with their Sunship necklace. Each bead on the necklaces represents a different part of nature and holds special meaning and a lot of memories for the campers.

Dysart cleaning up its landfill sites

Council okays pick-up of tires, looking at buying glass compactor, baler

by Andy Holloway

Dysart council approved a tire recycling program, but as a result tire dumping fees will increase.

Associate Tires in Orillia will begin picking up tires at Dysart dumps, starting with 1,000 tires at the Haliburton dump.

The company charges anywhere from $1.25 to $40 per tire depending on size. Dysart will charge an escalating fee schedule starting at $2 per passenger tire without a rim to $25 for a large tire. Reeve Chris Hodgson said the fees will only cover the costs of storing the tires and the pick-up service. The township will not make money on the tires, he said.

Unlike other companies offering pick-up service, Associate Tires does not have a minimum number of tires which have to be present in order can pick-up. Associate said it will incorporate Dysart into its rounds when needed and pick up what the township has set aside.

Councillor Gerry Walker acted as the liaison between council and Associate Tires and he told council the company currently ships its tires to New York where the rubber is pulverized. The company might compress the tires and use them in concrete building blocks in the future.

Walker also said the company is trying to buy tires from garages, thereby eliminating the need for many tires to end up in dumps.

Council is also still looking into buying a glass compactor and a cardboard baler. Councillor Robert Heinze said a new compactor would cost $3,000 while a baler could cost between $10,500 to $12,750, including installation and training costs, depending on the size.

Heinze will be looking into the market for used compactor and balers.

Because the market for recycled glass is not very large, council may decide to use the crushed glass in combination with soil as fill for landfill sites.

A compactor would crush the glass into a fine powder which could then be easily filtered into the fill's soil. However, approval may have to be obtained from the ministry of the environment before such a plan could proceed.

In preparation for the increased electricity the new machines would require, three-phase hydro will be added to the building at the Haliburton landfill site.

THE NEW CONSTITUTIONAL AGREEMENT

THE HIGHLIGHTS

Over the past two years, federal, provincial, territorial and Aboriginal leaders have consulted with thousands of Canadians and concerned groups from coast to coast. These consultations included Royal Commissions, participatory conferences, parliamentary hearings, and hearings in the provinces and territories held by provincial and territorial legislatures. Federal, provincial, territorial and Aboriginal leaders have agreed unanimously on August 28, 1992 in Charlottetown on a package of constitutional proposals that recognizes the equality of all Canadians and represents all of our interests. The agreement is now before Canadians.

A Social and Economic Union

The agreement proposes that the new Constitution would contain a statement of key economic and social objectives shared by all of the governments in the federation. The objectives include comprehensive, universal, portable, accessible and publicly administered health care, adequate social services and benefits, high quality primary and secondary education and reasonable access to post-secondary education, collective bargaining rights and a commitment to protecting the environment. The economic policy objectives to be entrenched would be aimed at strengthening the Canadian economic union; the free movement of persons, goods, services, and capital; ensuring full employment and a reasonable standard of living for all Canadians; ensuring sustainable and equitable development.

Exclusive provincial jurisdiction would be recognized in the areas of forestry, mining, tourism, housing, recreation, municipal affairs, cultural matters within the province, and labour market development and training. In addition, to ensure the two levels of government work in harmony, the government of Canada commits to negotiating agreements with the provinces in areas such as immigration, regional development and telecommunications. Federal-provincial agreements on any subject could be protected by the Constitution from unilateral change.

Distinct Society

The new Canadian Constitution would recognize the distinct nature of Quebec, based on its French language, unique culture and civil law tradition.

Avoiding Overlap and Duplication

In the reformed Parliament, the Senate would reflect the equality of the provinces while the House of Commons would be based more on the principle of representation by population. As well, various provinces would be assured a minimum amount of seats in the House of Commons.

Parliamentary Reform

The proposed Senate would be made up of six elected senators from each province and one from each territory. Additional seats would provide representation for Aboriginal peoples. The reformed Senate's powers should significantly increase the role of the elected Senators in the policy process.

The proposals recognize that Aboriginal peoples have an inherent right to self-government and that the Constitution should enable them to develop self-government arrangements and to take their place in the Canadian federation. The proposals recognize Aboriginal governments as one of the three constitutionally recognized orders of government in Canada. In addition, the proposals provide for a negotiation process between Aboriginal leaders and provincial and federal governments to put this right into effect. The recognition of the inherent right would not create any new rights to land, nor dilute existing treaty rights.

Now that Canada's federal, provincial, territorial and Aboriginal leaders have reached a consensus, it is the right of all Canadians to understand the new proposals. Call the toll-free number below to receive an easy-to-read booklet on the new constitutional agreement or a complete text.

It's your right to know what the constitutional proposals say, before voting on October 26.

Redmen Football

The Haliburton Highlands Redmen football teams return home for their final regular home season of the year against Fenelon Falls on October 23.

School ski finals will be in Haliburton

More than 1,000 people are expected to stay in Haliburton County when the Ontario high school Nordic ski championships come this February.

Dysart council approved the use of Glebe Park for the championship on February 22 and 23 at its monthly meeting last Tuesday. The township will also remove snow to create a parking area and allow the use of the band shell as a ski waxing area.

More than 800 skiers and about 250 coaches and officials are expected to participate in the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Association's (OFSAA) cross-country ski championships. Jim Andrews of the Nordic Ski Association said many of them will be looking for accommodations for two or three nights, which would be a boost to the local economy.

The ski championships have not been held in Haliburton since 1988 when they were held on the trails surrounding the PineStone Inn. However, Andrews said there were some minor logistical problems with that event which meant organizers had to find another site.

If the event proves to be successful, Andrews said there is a strong possibility that it could be held in Haliburton every third or fourth year. He said there are only a few sites in Ontario suitable to hold this kind of championship.

Hockey's back: Minden players just keep the puck out of the net during the annual baseball/hockey tournament which was held on October 10 at the Minden Arena.

One step away

by Andy Holloway

Both Haliburton Highlands Redmen football teams are one step away from capturing their respective Kawartha West division titles after wins last Friday in Lindsay.

The Redmen remained undefeated on the season as the seniors tamed the I.E. Weldon Wildcats 39-0 and the juniors fought for a hard-earned 24-0 victory in the second game of the doubleheader.

"This could be the first time in the history of the program that both teams have a chance to go undefeated in the season which is quite amazing in any league," said coach Gary Brohman.

In last Friday's action, the seniors were led by the running abilities of Andy Bacon and fullback Craig Harding. Bacon scored two touchdowns while compiling 230 yards on 21 carries. Harding scored one touchdown and pitched in another 105 yards on eight carries.

There was never any doubt who would win this game as the Redmen were up 25-0 at the half, despite missing three two-point converts. Harding got the Redmen rolling with a seven yard off-tackle touchdown run. Bacon then scored the first of his two majors on a 13 yard quick pitch to make it 12-0.

When the Redmen had the wind, they opened up an impressive aerial display with quarterback Jay Hughes completing five of 12 passes for 85 yards and three touchdowns including a 25 yard major score to Chris Greenfield.

Also scoring touchdowns for the Redmen were Peter Van Leeuwen and Greg Brohman, both on passes from Hughes.

Defensively the Redmen, led by Jerry Cooper, Derek Wilson and Greenfield, tallied two fumble recoveries, two interceptions and a number of knockdowns. The Redmen have not had a TD scored against them this season and have outscored the opposition 121-3.

The juniors were involved in a much tougher battle and only strong defensive and special teams play preserved the Redmen's undefeated string. Up only 9-0 at the half, on a 10 yard run up the middle by Peter Brohman, a safety and a single, the Redmen did not put the game away until late in the fourth quarter.

Special teams play put the game out of reach as Ryan Goodall recovered a blocked Wildcat punt by Paul Johnson in the end zone.

The Spartans then gave up another safety and on their ensuing possession, the Redmen smartly marched down the field and scored when Chris Dobbins ran a 20 yard reverse.

As in the senior game, the Redmen ran wild with 356 yards of rushing, an outstanding total in a junior game.

The biggest enemy for the Redmen entering the game with Fenelon Falls might be overconfidence. The Falcons, especially the junior team, are looking for an upset. If the junior Falcons win, they would force a play-off with the Redmen. However, coach Brohman said he believes the way the team has practiced all season long will keep his teams in step.

"Our practices are really structured. Getting ready for the first game of the season we practice like we're getting ready for the championship game - we do our blocking drills, our offensive and defensive drills and we try not to vary anything," said Brohman.

"It's the old adage - do it one game at a time."

The seniors will be given Tuesday night off to rest their bruises while the juniors will be given Monday night off.

Missed chances

Senior soccer squad fails to capitalize and loses 3-1

by Andy Holloway

A season that began so promisingly is becoming a nightmare of missed opportunities for the Haliburton Redmen senior soccer team.

Last Wednesday, the Redmen dropped their second in a row with a 3-1 loss to Lindsay Collegiate. The Redmen are now faced with a must-win situation this week in Fenelon Falls if they want to secure a play-off position. Only the top two teams make the play-offs and all four teams still have a shot at it.

Earlier in the year, the Redmen beat the Lindsay Spartans 2-0, but a lack of finesse proved to be the Redmen's downfall.

"To the guys' credit they played well. We had our chances to score, but we couldn't make them," said coach Walter Tose after the game. "They had the same number of, or even fewer, chances, but they capitalized on them."

The Redmen came out running hard early in the game and pushed the Spartans into a defensive shell, but the inability to finish off their chances was very evident. Among the better chances, Darren Parsons narrowly missed a header and Jonathan Bishop made a good dash on the side, but was blocked from getting to the ball.

Finally, Bill Bradley barged in on the left side untouched to knock in a Mike Morrison throw-in from the opposite side of the field. Morrison continued to play a strong game for the Redmen.

However, that would be all for the Redmen as soon after, they were forced to play with only ten men. Late in the first half, Eric Casper was given a red card and ejected from the game. Tose said a new league rule states that if a player is the last man back and he physically knocks the offensive player off the ball then he is automatically ejected. To be fair, Casper was a good distance away from his net and the Spartan really did not have a great chance to score.

With about 30 seconds left in the half the Spartans converted a free kick into a goal by Blair Simmons who booted it past sprawling keeper Bruce Milne.

The second half did not get any better for the Redmen as Spartan Jared Valentic scored two quick goals and then the Spartans sat back on their heels for the rest of the game.

The Redmen, however, did not give up and continued to apply some offensive pressure. Perhaps symbolizing the Redmen's day was when Nico Haedicke made a good run up the left side, moved around a Spartan defender and then rang the ball off the near post from about 10 feet out.

"In terms of position strategy they are playing well, they're lofting the ball well and pass-

Minden skating club glides back in to action

The leaves have begun to fall, the nights are longer and it appears that mom and dad are showing broad smiles again singing "School days, school days!" The children are back to school and a new year is underway, and we skaters are back into figure skating for the 1992-'93 season.

The Minden Skating Club has been very busy through the last months gearing up and getting organized for this year's season. There have been some changes but things are ready for the first day of skating.

The first official day of the 1992-'93 season is October 19, beginning at 4 p.m. for the Canskate program. The Test program will begin the same day at 5 p.m.

There will be an additional last-minute registration on the Monday for those who wish to have their children registered for this season. This will help parents who were unable to register their children on the two previous nights.

The Minden club is happy to announce that all our coaches are coming back. Dave Hollows will again be the professional coach for the Canskate program as well as providing private lessons for Test program skaters.

Jane Symons and Mary Donovan will also be coaching private lessons in the Test stream again.

The club would also like to announce that this year the coaching staff will be joined by an additional professional instructor. Lisa Carr will be providing coaching services on Friday nights with the Club. Please make her feel welcome and if you are interested in private lessons for your child, please feel free to contact Lisa directly.

Many of our young skaters are in the midst of preparing for upcoming competitions and honing their skills at fall school.

Speaking of competitions, this year there are more than ever. The number of Canskate competitions has increased. If parents are interested in any competitions check the bulletin board at the Minden arena or feel free to ask any of the executive members for information. They will be more than happy to oblige.

For parents new to the sport of figure skating, Canskate is a learn-to-skate program for beginners of all ages. It is designed by the Canadian Figure Skating Association to teach the fundamentals of skating, stopping, turning, spinning, jumping and the four basic edges. These basics prepare skaters to begin figure skating, hockey, ringette or just plain recreational skating.

Canskate sessions include a warm-up, stroking, a lesson, creative expression, exercise, games and cool-down activities. Music is used whenever possible. Skaters are kept active throughout the session to keep the interest level high and to promote fitness.

Once a skater is able to perform all the skills on a badge to the required standard, a badge is awarded. Badges provide an incentive for the beginners and help to measure progress through the program. There is no formal testing in the program except for the Proficiency Test. The Canskate program is taught by amateur or professional coaches who have been certified at a Canskate coaches clinic. If parents have any questions or concerns about their child's progress, please feel free to approach the Canskate coordinator at the arena or the professional coach.

The Minden club will again be hosting its annual invitational competition, "Minden Meet To Skate". This competition will be held the second weekend in January.

ing well," said Tose. "Sometimes I think they try to be a little too sure when they're shooting."

"Not to make excuses, but it is hard to play three-quarters of a game with only 10 players."

The Redmen, who are now winless in their last three games after starting the season with two wins, face Fenelon Falls in their last game of the season. If the Redmen win, they have a good chance of making the play-offs. Tose said the team will continue to practice its shooting and long ball playing this week in an effort to regain the scoring touch they displayed early in the year.

Tose said he might play Darren Johnston at the right forward position and possibly move Jonathan Bishop to the left side for the game.

The junior Redmen soccer team did not fare any better against the Spartans than the senior team did. The juniors wound up losing just 2-0, but most of the play was in their end and only some good defensive play kept the Spartans from adding to their total.

Early in the first half, the Spartans converted on a corner kick. The ball was expertly placed into the goal crease area and was knocked in accidentally by a Redmen.

A few minutes later, a nice chip shot into the top left corner and it was 2-0. At no point in the first half did the Redmen threaten to score and really seemed to be out of it. Injuries to some key players, no doubt, played a large part in the lackluster play.

In the second half the Redmen seemed to catch new life, perhaps due to the constant substitution of players as coach Mark Flatman tried to get everybody a lot of playing time.

The Redmen are now 2-3 on the year and will probably not make the play-offs. However, the team is in a re-building stage after losing most of its players from last year's Central Ontario championship team.

Waterfront beauty being destroyed

Editor:

I consider myself very fortunate to have been able to enjoy the changing beauty of the Haliburton Highlands for the past 11 years.

What was once our seasonal home has now become our permanent residence. I continue to marvel each day at the natural beauty that surrounds me.

However, I have been deeply saddened and somewhat shocked to discover a waterfront property on my lake that has been totally desecrated by a bulldozer.

What was once a heavily treed natural woodland (the old cottage was barely visible from the road) is now a flattened, muddy open field devoid of any vegetation. Culverts have been installed to carry stream water to the lake from deep, gaping ditches. The lot has been cleared from the road to the shores of the lake and the land sits two to three feet below the properties on each side. Mature pines and maples that were ruthlessly felled can never be replaced in our lifetime.

Putting winter recreation before people's welfare

Editor:

I was wondering if one of your readers could help me to understand an article which states "Snowmobilers To Share $14 Million In Grants".

Apparently, $14 million is coming from Shelley Martel, and the Ministry of Tourism. This amount is to be administered over a 3-year period.

However, not to end there, the Ministry of Tourism and Recreation for development of the Trans Ontario Provincial (TOP) Trails Program is going to give the snowmobilers a $6.75 million grant.

Now one of the closing paragraphs states that money spent on this sport as a recreation is about $15 million every year, and I have no reason to doubt this figure.

However, is this a realistic figure in today's employment market? After all, if it doesn't snow - there are no trails to groom, no jobs to be created. What then happens to all that money?

When a hospital is on the brink of closing, and the government states they have no money to give, hasn't someone somewhere mixed up their priorities?

Shouldn't the hospital (especially in an area like ours) be considered first?

Isn't human life worth more than a groomed trail?

Isn't it possible that the two could share the $20.75 million dollars over a 3-year period?

Yours truly,

Beverly J. Sydenham
Norland

Hospital info made available

Editor:

At the October 8th council meeting I made a very detailed presentation to the council explaining the truth of the situation with reference to the Minden Hospital, and the concerns related to same.

Two motions were passed as a result of this:

1. That Minden council will accept no reduction in services regarding the hospital.

2. That Minden council will meet with Mr. Lussing, the Administrator of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Because your newspaper chose not to print even the essence of this presentation, I am left no alternative but to make copies of this information available at The Rhodes Medical Centre's reception desk. Anyone wishing to read it may pick up a copy.

Thankful pet owner asks dog doctor to take a bow

Editor:

Recently I had a very sick dog which I took for treatment by Dr. Peter Bennett at Minden Animal Clinic.

The care and attention my dog received was exceptional as was the compassion and understanding shown to my wife and myself. Dr. Bennett, you are a credit to your profession.

Sincere thanks.

Anthony who care enough about the environment to try to pass a by-law prohibiting tree cutting on the 66-foot shore allowance. She should be commended and fully supported. It is obvious that the ministry has little effect. They should be grateful for any help they can get.

Studio tour a success once again says guide

Editor:

Harry and Thelma Farr (cottage owners on 12 Mile Lake) have once again sent us "The Studio Tour Bus" from Cardinal Tours.

From South Western Ontario, 40 first-time visitors to the Highlands were pleasantly surprised. We on the bus are always delighted to have Don and Roberta Sanderson (home owners on Maple Lake) as our driver and escort. It makes the handling of 40 people a lot easier when we are sent people who have a general knowledge of the area.

Each year, as we do this tour, success is very obvious - the number of people are increasing year after year. All our artisans can stand justly proud of this outstanding achievement.

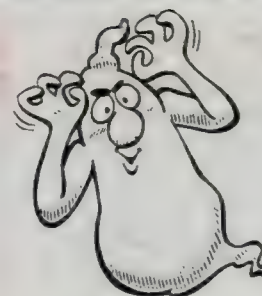

No words can express the Highland hospitality and the beautiful crafts we enjoyed at every studio. Personally, it gives me a great deal of pride as a tour guide to be able to share the beauty and hospitality only found in the Highlands.

Lyn and Bob Stevens of Red Umbrella Inn share with me in thanking Cardinal Tours for their promotional involvement, and to each artisan our sincere thanks.

Plans are already underway to have full representation for the craft show coming up on July 3 and 4 of 1993.

Congratulations and thanks to everyone involved with the 1992 Studio Tour.

Building starts increase over last year

by Jerry Grozelle

BUILDING INCREASES

Building starts for 1992 are up from the same period last year.

To date, Somerville Township has issued 127 building permits, compared to 104 for the same period last year.

The total value for 1992 is $4,198,077 as compared to $2,374,800 for 1991. The permits included additions to existing buildings, garages and other out buildings as well as new home construction. There were no new commercial building starts listed in Chief Building Official Rolf Stange's report.

TENDERS OPENED

Somerville Council exercised its option not to accept any of the tenders for a new pickup truck for the By-law Enforcement Department.

Tenders for a new truck ranged from $12,946 to $16,325 (not including taxes) for the supply of a vehicle fitting the Township's specifications. Instead of buying a new truck, Council opted to buy out the 1988 Dodge Dakota pickup that has been leased for the By-Law Department since 1988.

The lease ran out recently so the Township decided to explore the possibility of buying a new one. Since the leased vehicle is not in need of any major repairs and has a relatively low odometer reading for its age, Council decided that it would be more cost efficient to buy it for $4,204 than to purchase a new truck.

PROPERTY DELISTED

The Council for Somerville Township has given up temporarily on trying to sell a lakefront lot the Township owns on Crego Lake.

The property has been listed with Frank Real Estate Ltd. for some time and the listing period expired. Instead of relisting the property, Council chose to take it off the market for a while. It has been listed off and on for about two years at $89,500 without any takers.

OBSTRUCTIONS REMOVED

Somerville Council passed a resolution directing the Township solicitor to instruct Dan Del Medico to remove obstructions that were placed on an inaccessible road allowance at Lot 72, Front Range, near Shadow Lake.

Another shot of fishy fun

Norland planning another Fun, Food and Fish Festival

by Jerry Grozelle

The success of the Fun, Food and Fish Fest in Norland and the surrounding area this summer has prompted an enthusiastic start to the organization of another festival for 1993.

A meeting of a group of participants from the 1992 event resulted in the formation of a six-person committee to spearhead the organization of the 1993 event. Since the festival this past summer was the first, it was a learning experience. Any wrinkles will be ironed out and the second annual festival promises to be bigger and better.

One necessary change that became apparent was the date on which the 1992 festival was held. It coincided with several other popular events in the area that may have drawn people away from the local event. To remedy that situation, the local organizers have already set the date of the 1993 festival for July 16, 17 and 18, which is the weekend after the Horse Draw in Norland.

Traditionally, a festival is scheduled for that weekend in Coboconk and the Norland area group is planning to contact its counterpart in Coby to see if they can work together to compliment each other.

The object, as Rena Parno sees it, is to draw people from farther afield than the local area, hopefully from as far as Toronto and beyond. Parno, of the Norland Trading Company, led the organization of the first festival.

"We want to bring people in from outside the area," she said.

For 1993, entertainment will be high on the list of drawing cards. The second annual festival will have a western theme so the committee will be trying to line up some western bands to perform during the three-day event.

Parno has already approached the council of Laxton, Digby and Longford to ask for its endorsement of a request to the Ontario Lottery Corporation for its mobile stage for the weekend of the event. The stage has its own power generator and is equipped with microphones speakers and other electronics to support almost any band the organizers might be able to book. Council not only endorsed the group's bid for the stage, but also offered the use of Ward Memorial Park and the facilities of the community centre for the weekend as well.

Even in these early stages, with more than nine months to go before the July 1993 weekend, several ideas are being studied.

"There are so many possibilities," Parno said. "Like mud bog races for ATVs. There has even been mention of a demolition derby."

Although the bulk of the activities for the weekend will have a western theme, some other things like an antique car display, will add some diversity to the event. Vendors of antiques and crafts will be encouraged to set up displays during the festival.

"Hopefully all our groups here, like the Seniors and the Women's Institute can have something going on that they can make a bit of revenue from," Parno said. "And from what I understand, the square dance group here in town that meets every Monday is very anxious to show off their stuff."

Planning for the 1993 event is in the early stages and the committee is open to suggestions.

"I really feel it is so important that we get that stage and then we can centre the activities around that stage," Parno said. "Because, if you don't have a stage, you don't have the entertainment."

Another meeting of the organizing committee will be held within the next few weeks.

Any suggestions can be directed to Rena Parno at the Norland Trading Company.

Doing justice to the work of conservation officers

by Jerry Grozelle

A century of protecting Ontario's natural resources is chronicled in Joe Fisher's book Game Wardens.

Fisher's book was commissioned by the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources to commemorate the 100th Anniversary of Conservation Officers in Ontario.

Late in the last century a rapid decline in wildlife populations across the province dictated that something had to be done to reverse the trend. In 1892, the Provincial Government enacted legislation to protect game and furbearing animals and appointed a chief warden and four part-time field officers. In addition, 392 volunteer deputy wardens were appointed to assist the officers. From those humble beginnings, the corps of Conservation Officers has grown to 267 officers and 90 additional badge-carrying staff members in 1992.

The highlights of this book are the personal anecdotes provided by past and present officers and their families. These experiences give the reader a great deal of insight into the trials and tribulations that these officers have faced throughout the past 100 years.

The past 10 decades haven't been without some tragedy for Ontario's Game Wardens. There have been lives lost, some by accident in the line of duty and at least a couple under suspicious circumstances, although foul play hasn't been conclusively proven.

Fisher's use of old photographs and interviews with Wardens past and present make the book entertaining as well as informative. You don't have to be a history buff to enjoy this book. Anyone who appreciates the outdoors and its fauna is likely to find something of interest.

In the Author's Acknowledgements Fisher says: "In the course of researching and writing this book, I have been unfailingly impressed with the genuineness, courage, dedication, courtesy and good humour of each and every interviewed officer, past and present."

With the number of sources available, the book could easily have been twice its 157 pages in length (which includes Fisher's acknowledgements, a list of major changes over the last 100 years and a glossary of terms) without getting boring.

The past has been turbulent at times for the people responsible for enforcing the laws governing the use of Ontario's natural resources. Fisher does justice to the efforts of these people, who have persevered in the face of adversity, not only from the people who abuse their hunting, fishing and trapping privileges but also from the bureaucrats who issue their directives.

Game Wardens is available from the Ontario Government Bookstore, Publications Ontario by calling toll free 1-800-668-9938 or through the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters (705) 748-6324. The price is $27.95.

A Dairing manoeuvre

Cadet leader
Chris Dair goes back to high school

In these hard times, hundreds of students who have already graduated from high schools in Ontario and the rest of the country, are returning to upgrade previous marks or raise their standings for university.

One such student at Hal High is twenty year old Chris Dair.

Two years ago, Chris graduated from his OAC year with satisfactory marks and was accepted to the Radio College of Canada where he studied electronics.

After one year of college, Chris decided to come back to Hal High to try to achieve higher OAC marks. He is hoping to get a chance to attend university where he plans to study either electrical or chemical engineering.

Chris's hopes are high this year, and so they should be. Just last month he was informed that the Trenton Cadet Corps has accepted him as Haliburton's Reserve Forces Officer.

Chris has been a cadet since he was 13 years old and is now in charge of training and drilling the younger cadets.

He is very excited about the possibilities which now present themselves to him

Chris Dair returned to Hal High in order to try and get higher marks so that he can enter mechanical or electrical engineering at university.

and he hopes to not only move up in rank with the cadets, but also to go to university and then perhaps to the army.

If Chris does go into the army, they will reimburse him for the money he spent on his university education.

It took a lot of courage for Chris to quit the Radio College and come back to high school, but he feels that he has more options now than he had two years ago.

He also feels that the key to a successful career is a good education and we wish Chris the best of luck in attaining his goals.

Taking fun on to the stage

Drama festival promises heady competition

Festival. What does this imply to you? Does it conjure up images of fun, entertainment and parties? Indeed it probably brings all these things to mind but it should also bring forth the word competition. Highland Drama Fest '92 will definitely have all these characteristics.

You may recall reading articles over the past few months in regard to the origins of the Eastern Ontario Drama League (EODL) and its festivals. On November 6 and 7, the Highlands' Little Theatre has the honour of hosting the annual one-act play festival on behalf of the EODL. Competitors and their support groups will be coming to Haliburton from Bancroft, Carleton Place, Lindsay, Peterborough, Picton and Trenton. This will be a very busy and exciting weekend for the theatre group, not only as hosts but as competitors.

In the past, the Highlands' Little Theatre has entered only one other one-act play festival. In October 1990, they travelled to Lindsay and performed "Mother Gets Her Wings" at the Academy Theatre. They were nominated in nine of the eleven categories and came home with three awards. This time they will be entering a comedy entitled "The Three Million Dollar Lunch" by Fred Carmichael. It features five ladies, three veterans and two newcomers to the group, and is directed by Doug Brohm.

The schedule for the weekend is rather hectic but the lineup of plays look very interesting and entertaining. Haliburton will be performing on Friday, November 6 with two other groups beginning at 8 p.m. The Mississippi Mudds of Carleton Place will be presenting a drama entitled "The Stone Water Rapture" and the Trenton Community Players are performing another drama, "Scent of Honeysuckle".

On Saturday, November 7, beginning at 1 p.m. there will also be three plays. Living History Productions from Picton will be presenting an original drama, "The Prize As Attached"; the Bancroft Theatre Guild are bringing a short drama called "Sailing"; and rounding out the line-up for the afternoon, is a comedy by the Peterborough Theatre Guild, "Visitor From Forest Hills".

Saturday evening will bring a slightly shorter program of two plays. Beginning at 7:30 p.m., the Lindsay Little Theatre will present a drama, "The Return" and following this, the Picton group will return with another original play, a comedy entitled "Happy Trails".

Besides a festival providing a great deal of entertainment in a short period of time, it is also unique in that it is a competition as opposed to a regular theatrical production. The seven groups appearing at the legion are all working under the same conditions and rules. Although each is producing a different play, they all have the same elements: actors, sets, lights, directors and backstage crews to organize and run the show. The adjudicator, following each set of plays, will publicly point out the strengths and weaknesses of each performance and offer some constructive comments. It is through these comments that the audience gains an insight into backstage elements, acting and staging techniques which are often invisible to the public. In addition, there is the opportunity for the audience to "play judge" and then compare opinions with the professional judge.

Also unique to festivals is the social aspect. Following the Friday and Saturday evening performances and public adjudications, there will be a "green room".

There is a small admission charge to these rooms to offset the cost of the finger foods that are offered, and it is here that casts, crews and audience members can meet, mingle and discuss theatre and in particular the plays just seen.

After the Saturday evening performance, there will be some light entertainment presented prior to the award presentations. Your admission ticket to the plays includes this part of the evening as well.

The Festival Committee and the Highlands Little Theatre are looking forward to welcoming the EODL members, the six other community theatre groups and their supporters to Haliburton County. They encourage all Highlands Little Theatre supporters to come out and be a part of this festival weekend. Home-town support in any competition is very important and always most welcome.

For further information and/or tickets, call 457-1029 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. (Monday to Friday) and 457-1235 after 6 p.m.

Minden to Minden

Two Minden residents visited Minden on October 8. So what you say? Well, the two men were from Minden, Germany. Heinz Röthmeier (right) and Willi Weper stopped by The Times office for a tour and exchange information about the two Mindens. Röthmeier is a former mayor of Minden while Weper is a long-time councillor. The two also stopped in for a look at Minden's - that's Ontario's Minden - council chambers and were warmly greeted by Reeve Bern Berry.

Man drowns on Glamor Lake

A 29-year-old Scarborough man drowned on October 10 on Glamor Lake as the result of a boating accident.

The body of Kenneth Naraine was recovered by police divers on Oct. 11 after searching the Glamorgan Township lake.

Kenneth Naraine was staying at a cottage in Glamorgan Township and decided to go on an early-morning fishing trip, police report. He went out in a canoe at some time between 3 a.m. and 4 a.m.

When he hadn't returned by 9 a.m., police say his companions went looking for him.

They found his partially submerged canoe a short distance from the cottage and called the Minden

OPP detachment at about 11 a.m.

Police searched the lake, and divers eventually found the body about 30 feet from shore in six feet of water.

According to a report from OPP Constable Mike Maybee, Naraine had been drinking prior to going in the boat and did not have a life jacket available to him.

Nature sets its own boundaries

History shows that human borders constantly shift over time, but we take these transitory boundaries very seriously.

We try to "manage resources" within politically defined jurisdictions even though most species evolved long before we did and follow biophysical imperatives that do not conform to our temporary demarcations.

Animals and plants don't notice our delineations; they are "Earth creatures", not human possessions, and can not be managed within our restricted confines.

Nothing illustrates this better than the trans-hemispheric migratory flights of waterfowl and shorebirds and the circum-oceanic movements of salmon. Just as impressive is the annual trip of monarch butterflies.

To us denizens of concrete and glass human habitat of downtown cities, the sudden appearance of a speck of colour wafting along air streams over busy streets is an unexpected delight. Often it is a monarch fattening up over the summer before a remarkable journey the length of the continent.

Perhaps a hundred million monarchs east of the Rocky Mountains respond to their genetically programmed urges and navigate unerringly to their wintering grounds 3,000 meters above sea level in the mountains of central Mexico. At nine known sites they gather to wait out the winter, garishly coating Oyamel fir trees like Christmas ornaments. In the spring, they turn around and begin the journey back. Most only reach Texas where they lay their eggs on milkweed plants and die. Their offspring complete the trip to Canada.

Dorothy McIntosh of Toronto sent me a short report of a massive monarch die-off last winter blamed on "climatic changes brought about by logging of their natural habitat." Homero Aridjis, a Mexican environmentalist, was quoted as estimating that between December and January, tens of millions of butterflies (70 per cent of the total) died in the pine forests of the Sierra Transvolcanica in Michoacan. Ms. McIntosh put me in touch with Barry Peers (613-998-4664) who is preparing an exhibit called Monarca: The Butterfly Beyond Boundaries for the Canadian Museum of Nature in Ottawa.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

Peers informed me the insect's trip allows adults and caterpillars to have food between Mexico and Canada. Their life cycle is exquisitely synchronized with the changing seasons, but this renders them vulnerable to natural fluctuations in weather and habitat. And human activity, especially in Mexico with the twin pressures of population and poverty, adds a constant threat.

It seems the monarch kill last winter was the result of a combination of factors. A cold, wet winter in Mexico decimated the insects and the survivors have been hit again by a cold, wet winter in Ontario. Even if the poor weather was not due to atmosphere change by human activity, effects of such natural disasters will only be exaggerated by the relentless destruction of habitat by loggers and poor people in search of fuel, lumber and land.

The monarch's migration and transnational life cycle is one of nature's great spectacles which should be regarded as a global treasure. Public interest in the insects and the discovery of several of their wintering sites prompted Mexican President Carlos Salinas to establish butterfly preserves at five of the sites in 1986. After this winter's kill, Salinas announced a further commitment to protect them. His decree prohibits logging and agriculture in the heart of the sites and restricts other activities around them, but already, two of the sites have been destroyed while the others were not delineated in an ecologically sensitive way.

All of the known sites should be protected and their borders enlarged to include whole watersheds. Most of the land indicated in the decree is owned by EJIDOS, collective farms for local communities, who need an incentive to protect the butterflies. In order to make the preserves work, Mexico needs the will, money, personnel. A Mexican group, Monarca A.C., is working to protect the insects (they can be contacted through Peers).

As we pursue the economic benefits of a North American Free Trade Agreement, ecological consequences of "development" in the name of jobs and profit should not be ignored. If transnational biological treasures like monarch butterflies matter to us, NAFTA should include clauses that commit us to protect them by providing aid to Mexico to expand the number and perimeters of the butterfly preserves and to police them. We should also act in our own backyard, for example, by removing milkweed, the food of monarchs, from Ontario's list of "noxious weeds."

For all those people whose lives are enriched by appreciation of the beauty of monarch butterflies and their marvellous life cycle, national borders shouldn't deter our efforts to protect them.

Stouffer students learn the big media picture

A small group of grade eights from Archie Stouffer Elementary School visited The Times office on Tuesday October 13 in the afternoon.

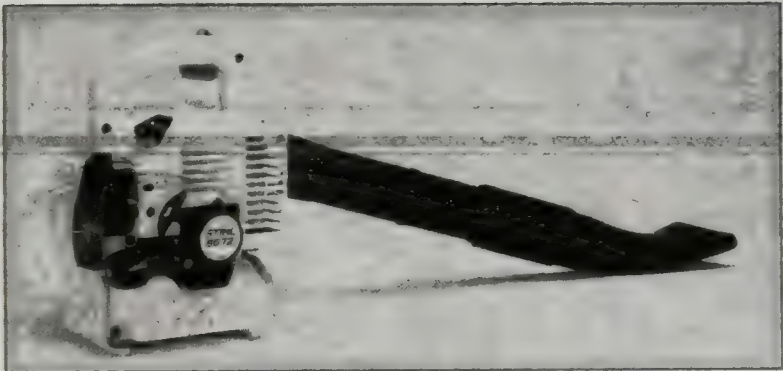

The group was only one of seven that came to learn about developing pictures. They came because they are studying media with Mrs. Obee, Mrs. Bennett-Powers and Mrs. Mark.

Their names beginning from the left are Jamie Henderson, Amber Bunn, Ian MacKenzie, John Browning, Valerie Patterson, and Susan Carr. They were happy to come because it helps them get out of school and away from those nasty old teachers!

Legion sets activity schedule

Christmas bazaar and bake sale is first event

At our meeting on Wednesday, October 14, the members in attendance set the following dates for our coming events.

All of the hard work by our Ladies will be rewarded with a Show and Dinner on November 29.

We will be holding our Christmas Bazaar and Bake Sale November 14 from 9 a.m. until noon at our Legion Branch.

The annual Children's Christmas Party will be December 13. A form will be put on the bulletin board in the lobby to enter your child or grandchild's name for the party.

Tickets will be available soon on a beautiful porcelain doll. The draw will be made at 2 p.m., December 13 at the Children's

For Your Service

by Comrade Shirley Kirk

Christmas Party.

Honours and Awards have been set for April 24, 1993. More information on this at a later date.

Our meeting night draw winners were: Comrades Edith Burch, Ellen Holden and Molly McKenzie. Each received a small gift.

Once again, thanks to all the ladies for donating their time in the kitchen. It is certainly appreciated.

United Canada stands tall

More than a century ago a new country was founded - a Confederation based on the belief that we can do more together than we can apart, and that citizens of each province would enjoy a better future united as one country.

In the years that followed, that belief and that vision have been more than justified. The prosperity Canadians enjoy today is proof that a united Canada makes sense. And that prosperity is at risk if we let this country fall apart.

Consider, for example, the fact that despite ranking only 31st in population, we have built up the seventh largest industrial economy in the world.

That is why we are in the Group of Seven, the major league of the world's industrialized nations. In fact, over the past 30 years we have achieved the second highest growth rate among the Group of Seven countries.

We are at the table, helping to set the rules of the game, not waiting in the corridors for decisions that might

from the office of Bill Scott, MP affect us to be taken. But a diminished Canada - a broken Canada - could not aspire to membership in this exclusive club or protect the interest of its citizens.

What we have achieved by working together has made us the envy of the world. That is why millions of people from around the globe are interested in coming to Canada. That is why a recent study by the United Nations concluded that we are, quite simply, the best country in the world in which to live.

For 125 years we have shown that prosperity through unity makes sense. And it makes even more sense today, in the era of rapid, often unsettling global change.

We need a united Canada - a Canada where we can face the global challenges of the 21st century together.

We need a Canada where, by working together, we can preserve and strengthen our privileged place within the community of nations.

Crime of the week

Thieves use dairy as cash cow

During the night of Aug. 30-31, unknown persons entered the Kawartha Dairy located on Hwy. 35 in Minden. Entry was gained by forcing a door. Stolen during the break-in was cash and a quantity of coins rolled in bank rollers.

If you have any information about this or any other crime, call Lindsay Crimestoppers at 1-800-563-TIPS (8477). You will never be asked to reveal your identity or to testify in court. If your information leads to an arrest Lindsay Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 in cash.

Furnace cracks are not a gas

Up to 2,000 homes across Ontario may contain furnaces with cracked heat exchangers. The fuel safety branch of Ontario's consumer and commercial relations ministry warns that homeowners with Flame-master FM series natural gas or propane furnaces should have them checked immediately by a registered heating contractor or fuel supplier.

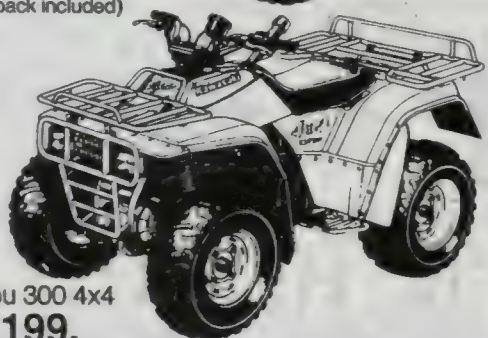

The ministry advises that cracked heat exchangers can allow carbon monoxide, a colourless and odourless gas, to be released into the home and could cause death. Symptoms include headaches and nausea. Further information is available by calling the Ministry of Consumer Relations, fuel safety branch at 426-234-6030.

Many service agencies in the County require the assistance of volunteers to help run their programs on a continuing basis. If you would like to help, contact your nearest Information Centre for details.

Coboconk's Happy Wanderers sing for seniors

On Sunday, October 4, Mary Guillemine came to read to some of the residents. Thank you Mary.

The evening chapel service was conducted by Rev. John Burgess, who is thanked very much, and Alice Jones at the organ - thank you Alice.

Monday afternoon, Residents' Council was held in the auditorium. Since Thanksgiving comes on the regular Monday, we decided to hold it a week early. The meeting was well attended. Rheta Jones, our administrator, attended and announced that the new tub room would be ready that week (residents were moved down Thursday). Linda Fry gave a reading on "How Activities Benefit Seniors' Homes". It was a successful afternoon.

Movies were shown by Ruth and Alan Rice, in two parts. The movie this week was "Daublin with Houston".

Tuesday chapel service and communion were given by Rev. Parker with our appreciation.

Abracadabra

No trickery involved in magical entertainment

And now for something completely different, unique, unusual, exciting, incredibly funny or at worst, not seen for a long time in the library community of Haliburton.

Specifically, it's Peter Mennie's "Magical Wanderer" show. Based on his famous stage show "Abracadabra", many illusions are featured that have become classics over the years. Mennie's philosophy is to "...entertain, not trick..." and the whole family will be sure to agree.

On tour throughout North America for over 15 years, Mennie has put together a fast-paced 50-minute family program which features lots of audience participation as well as entertainment for everyone.

Two shows are planned for the Friday, October 23. In Minden, the show takes place at 1:30 p.m. at Archie Stouffer and at 10 a.m. at the Royal Canadian Legion in Haliburton.

In the afternoon, Katherine demonstrated strip quilting. It certainly is much easier than when we did it. Thanks Katherine.

October 6 was Lucy Burgess' 101st birthday. Also, Marjory McIntosh celebrated a birthday. Congratulations to both Lucy and Maizie.

On October 7 Ethel Shaw had her birthday. Happy Birthday Ethel. To help her celebrate, the Happy Wanderers from Coboconk, conducted by Mr. Anderson, put on a lovely program of singing by seniors from the district. It was a delightful program. A light lunch followed. A hearty thank you to everyone.

The Thursday tea party was provided and served by the ladies of the Wilberforce Legion. I'm sure it was delicious and everyone enjoyed it. Nancy Briggs and her daughter called the bingo Thursday evening. Thank you Nancy.

On Friday, Happy Hour was held in the auditorium with entertainment by Don Whyte and Charlie Hadley. Also, a draw for the turkeys was held to raise money for the tub fund. The ladies who sold the tickets drew a name from the tickets they had sold. These ladies were: Alice Rivers, Alice Todd, Mary McKelvey and Lilian Harrison. We appreciate all the work they put into it. The winners were: Rheta Jones (administrator), Carol Ann Schell (nursing), Donna Noel (kitchen) and Winnifred Barnum (resident).

The Grandfathers' 5 came for a musical evening Friday night. Thank you all and Happy Thanksgiving.

Congratulations to Lula Ferrill on celebrating her birthday on October 9. We wish her many more.

The Alzheimer Society of Canada of Peterborough and area presents a workshop on Wednesday, October 28 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Trinity United Church, 360 Reid St., Peterborough. The facilitators will be Bonnie Davidson, a clinical nurse specialist, Gerontology and Donna McIntosh, an Alzheimer Society field worker. The topic for the workshop will be "Overcoming Challenging Behaviours" and it will cost $10 for the family caregiver and $20 for a professional caregiver. Participants will discuss challenging behaviours of dementia such as anxiety, anger, agitation, aggression and wandering. Everyone caring for people with dementia will enjoy this workshop. Please call the Alzheimer Office to register (748-5131). Registration is limited and must be in by October 21.

The Alzheimer Society of Peterborough and area presents their monthly general meeting to be held on Wednesday, October 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Maycrest Auditorium located at 200 St. Luke's Ave., Peterborough. The speaker will be Judy Lever, clinical nurse specialist and assistant to Dr. Willy Molloy at McMaster University Medical Centre. The topic she will be speaking on is "Advanced Health Care Directives". Everyone is welcome. No charge and refreshments to follow.

An ode to Dorothy Milne (our line dancing teacher)

Enjoy Exercise With Friends

Come out each Thursday at Stanhope Hall And see the fun had by all.

Sometimes we visit and don't listen to the call,

Dorothy will say, "Come on girls, get on the ball."

We like all the dances, old and new.

Sometimes we get mixed up and don't know what to do.

Dorothy has magic in her feet,
That's why Thursdays are such a treat.
The middle of October is almost here,
Dorothy is packing and getting in gear.
We will miss you, but have fun.
Enjoy your winter in the sun.
by Pearl Foster

We certainly were blessed this year with a rainbow of Nature's colours over our hillsides. Many people were in the village and I caught enough sunshine at one point to get some pictures. We are very fortunate to live in such a beautiful county.

Hey Sports Fans! What a great result with the Blue Jays taking the American League series, hope they go on to win "it all". My late husband and our son Glen attended that first snowy game in Exhibition Stadium and had a great time. Anyway, don't plan any events soon for we know everyone will be glued to the T.V. sets in the next week.
